

ARCOS

Arcos Hermanos S.A. is considered as the first Spanish cutlery-knife making company being one of the most internationally recognised companies all around the world. The first piece which ushered in the commencement of the ARCOS company in 1734, were the first scissors of the brand, created by Juan de Arcos and which are currently found in the Museo de la Cuchillería de Albacete (Albacete Cutlery Museum). This relic was donated by the owners of ARCOS Hermanos who wanted to demonstrate the beauty of this piece to the general public.

These scissors correspond to the oldest piece and belong to the first knife of the ARCOS family. Its long blades and its embellishments convey one to the beginnings of ARCOS, together with the engraving in one of its blades in which one can read "Albacete 1734", evidence demonstrating that the company has come a very long way since then as demonstrated by its extensive professional background.

The National Archaeological Museum in Madrid has in its collection other pairs of scissors, made by Juan de Arcos Gallardo, dating back to 1745 and 1746. Another unique piece which is part of Arcos's history.

This family-owned company, whose products are at the forefront of the world cutlery-knife making market, is very proud of its history and for having crossed borders to become what it is today: a leading company in the cutlery-knife making sector whose growth is never ending. 280 years of work and recognition positions the ARCOS company in a vantage point market position and with the confidence from its customers which is increasingly greater.
